Hello Friends!

Hope you are all doing good. It's been a busy two weeks here! I uploaded a few new posts including one on Rest APIs (great tool for web applications) and I have a new eBook available on Amazon.

Thanks,
Manuel Amunategui

The Python and Flask Rest API, Abstracting Functions for Web Applications and SaaS

A really cool way of creating functions that piggyback on top of the Internet and can be called from anywhere around the world. In this video and article, I walk through two simple examples using the flask_restful library.
